Saturday Morning

Dene & Paula,

Some of these small children walked three days to pick up their food supply for the next month. Will you help us feed one more child next month?

Several years ago an AIDS epidemic and continuous civil strife wiped out Malawi's 14-35 year-olds, leaving behind thousands of young orphans.

Almost all of the children left behind had no one to care for them. Many hid in the jungle for protection. And, unfortunately, a lot of them died of malnutrition.

Then a compassionate company—and some very caring people—decided to take action and make a difference. Nu Skin is that company. They 'adopted' the country of Malawi in 2009 and focused their efforts on saving these young orphans.

They encouraged their distributors to donate bags of VitaMeal for monthly drop-offs in Malawi.

And their plan worked! In 2010, not one Malawi child died of malnutrition . . . thanks to Nu Skin . . . and caring people just like you.

But these kids—and others like them in other countries—still need your help.

For only 79 cents a day you can provide an AIDS orphan in Malawi—or a starving child in another country—with a 30-day supply of VitaMeal—a nutrient-dense food carefully formulated to supply all the essential daily nutrients to nourish a child—not just fill him up.

Will you join me? And make sure one more starving child has a bag of VitaMeal waiting for him next month?

Thank you for standing with me,

Judy Baldwin
Nu Skin Distributor

P.S. You can sponsor one or more malnourished children for just $23.50 each . . . and be sure they get the nourishment they so desperately need. Go online at http://www.nujudy.MillionsOfMeals.com to set up your monthly donation of VitaMeal. Your donation of VitaMeal is considered an in-kind gift for tax purposes.
